

Planning on getting married in a magical place like Guanajuato or San Miguel de Allende is to turn the location into a main character in this important event, it means acquiring a new participant in the love story that is about to be written... No story is complete without the right scenery, weather, nor lighting to put up the staging of one of the most important productions of our lives... Guanajuato will provide to your story not only the scenery, but its entire city...

The magic in getting married in the State of Guanajuato is to live the traditions of the place. There is no better festive moment in life than a wedding, and nothing better than to celebrate it in one of the most desired destinations in Mexico: Guanajuato or San Miguel de Allende, which offer a variety of sceneries to enjoy an event, in a unique way, in a place with a distinctive style and many advantages, luxury and details found only in extraordinary cities. Beautiful colonial cities with narrow cobblestoned streets and their colorful architecture paint the perfect picture for a memorable wedding.

The celebration can be held in one of the antique houses, haciendas and venues that can provide services that go from planning, decoration, banquet and music; a whole celebration arranged in the colonial sceneries of the city and Guanajuato's hospitality.

Small and romantic patios, big and sumptuous well known hotel gardens, spaces filled with tradition in the main house of the hacienda, urban terraces with a view to the San Miguel de Allende Parrish, each with a special unique touch that enchants couples looking for an original place that gives style to the wedding.

It's always time for the Honeymoon

After celebrating a magical wedding, the most expected moment for the newlyweds. The best is yet to begin, a life together, a journey that promises great moments if it starts in a nice place, and Guanajuato is an excellent destination to enjoy those days free of stress and exhaustion from the wedding.

It's time to relax in a beautiful and cozy hotel boutique, to take long walks in the alleys, to enjoy an enchanted city where you can still breathe colonial air and bohemian environment with lots of style.

One of the most solicited traditions is a very fun one, the "callejoneada". The "callejoneada" is a tradition in which the bride and groom walk around different streets and alleys downtown accompanied by traditional musical groups like the "estudiantina", "mariachis" or a "banda de viento" and in San Miguel accompanied by the "mojigangas" (giant dancing paper puppet figures) disguised as bride and groom that all together create a unique and unforgettable atmosphere.

The ceremony can be held at one of the six baroque temples, which have historic and architectonic value recognized by the UNESCO when naming San Miguel and Guanajuato World Heritage Cities.

"By Rosewood San Miguel de Allende".
